HACK memphis

We're creating an ecosystem to host a hardware and software developer weekend to forge a community of hackers and makers in Memphis. We're inviting all types of development professionals and amateurs from the metro area and bringing them together to make incredible things - and we want you to be a part of it!

This event will thrive with your generous support, and we truly hope that you will be energized to join us in this endeavor. The plans detailed below outline our needs and what we can offer to potential sponsors; however, if you feel that none of these packages suit your company's needs, please contact us and we'll work with you!

If you have any questions, feel free to contact our sponsorship coordinator:

Extras

Sponsor Table

Sponsors above a certain level may reserve a two hour block of time at the "sponsor table" at the event. This table will be located in a prime spot at the venue and guarantees a high value and volume of traffic. Sponsors may display whatever they like at the table, but should clear the display with the sponsorship coordinator first.

Exclusivity

Any sponsor at the Ninja level may choose to become an industry exclusive sponsor for an additional $1,000. HackMemphis will NOT accept sponsorships from another company in the same industry. This bonus will only take effect once the sponsorship amount is fulfilled in full.

Interesting Statistics

We want you to know who it is that we expect to attend, and we're happy to tell you that we have interest from many of the local user groups and maker organizations in the Memphis area.

Developer Meetups

Meetups & User Groups	Membership	Regular Attendance
Java User Group
PHP User Group	227	12
Python User Group
.NET User Group
Midsouth Makers
Ruby User Group	18	10

We are currently expecting between 30 and 50 software and hardware developers to attend, but will have better estimates by mid-Summer.
